BUSINESS CONTEXT C

An existing, operating café. W&W's programme develops the brand from 1 November 2026.

Today	₹1–1.5 lakh / month
Within 3 months	₹4 lakh / month
Later ambition	₹8 lakh / month

Client-reported revenue and management objectives [1], not verified results. The ₹8 lakh step depends on demand, capacity and profitability.

NOT YET VISIBLE TO CUSTOMERS

- Item names and prices [2]
- A signature dish or drink
- Photographs of the actual venue
- A body of reviews: District shows too few ratings to score [3]

IMPLICATION → Before adding new promises, make the existing offer legible: published prices, named signatures, real photographs and listings that agree.

Q WHAT SHOULD CUSTOMERS REMEMBER?

The logo already says “Coffee · Community · Convo”. Conversation should be the one thing people remember.

WHAT CUSTOMERS SHOULD REMEMBER

The rooftop table you can keep all evening

1 · CUSTOMER NEED S

An unhurried evening out with friends or a partner that feels special, without restobar noise or bill.

2 · CAFÉ EXPERIENCE V

Open-sky tables, cosy corners, a late close and light play for groups.

3 · PRODUCTS V

Coffee and beverages to linger over, comfort food to share, desserts to finish.

4 · PROMISE S

“Your table on the rooftop, for as long as the conversation lasts.”

WHAT THE EXISTING IDENTITY STANDS FOR

The manual defines three personality pillars, a cup inside a crescent (comfort and the night-time rooftop) and the tagline Coffee · Community · Convo[6].

The status shows how far today’s public evidence supports each pillar.

Premium — CLAIM ONLY

Stylish · Elegant · High-quality C

Price is mid-market and there are no reviews yet. Let guests say “premium”. S

Cozy — PARTLY SUPPORTED

Warm · Intimate · Comfortable C

Rooftop, indoor and outdoor seating are listed; the mood itself is not yet shown in real photos. S

Friendly & welcoming — NEEDS PROOF

Approachable · Inclusive · Inviting C

Depends on hosting. Make it a visible service standard. S

IMPLICATION → Lead with “Convo”. It is already in the logo, it is ownable, and it is credible at ≈ ₹1,000 for two. “Premium” should be earned through guests' words, not headlines.

Q WHICH PROMISES ARE DOCUMENTED, AND WHICH STILL NEED PROOF?

The identity is well documented; the experience behind it is not yet proven in public.

↑ CLIMB IN ORDER: EACH RUNG NEEDS THE ONE BELOW IT

4 Earned reputation

Not yet

- A steady flow of recent reviews
- Guest photos and stories
- Signature items people name
- Regulars who return weekly

3 Operational promises that need verification

(H) Verify before promoting

- PS5 lounge operating, with hours
- Rain cover on the rooftop
- Table-booking route
- "Smoke-friendly" zone (legal advice first)
- "Panoramic views"
- Attentive hosting

2 Observable digital evidence

(V) Observed 21 Oct 2026

- Address in Anna Nagar East
- Rooftop, indoor, outdoor seating
- ≈ ₹1,000 for two
- Hours 10:00–23:45
- Menu categories (conflicting)
- Listed on Zomato and District

1 Documented identity

(C) Client-stated

- Logo suite and usage rules

- Tagline "Coffee · Community · Convo"
- Positioning: "premium yet accessible rooftop café"

CONTRADICTIONS DISCLOSED

Cuisines. Zomato lists coffee, beverages, Chinese, South Indian, pizza, burgers, momos and desserts[4]. District lists Continental, American and Mexican[3].

Ratings. District: "new", too few ratings to score. Zomato snapshots showed either one rating or 3.7 from 16. Neither could be resolved because the live pages were inaccessible.

INACCESSIBLE IS NOT ABSENT

The website[7], Instagram[8] and Google profile[9] could not be loaded from our research environment. That is a limit of this research, not evidence that La Mirajh lacks a digital presence. These should be reviewed first-hand before launch.

IMPLICATION → Climb the ladder in order: verify operations, publish them consistently, then earn reviews, before amplifying "premium".

Q HOW SHOULD EVERY TOUCHPOINT EXPRESS ONE EXPERIENCE?

One recognisable evening: cream and deep blue, real dusk photography, a calm voice and hosts who let guests stay.

Colour & pattern

Cream	Deep blue	Brown	Gold	Red
#FFF2D4	#004C6A	#8A5D3B	#D6A84A	#BE1E2D
Base	Brand	Warmth	Accents	Rare pop

Cream and deep blue lead; gold for stars; red used sparingly. The line-art pattern (right) belongs on packaging, menus and social backgrounds, never behind text or on main signage[6].

Typography & logo

Garamond
headlines

Lato
body, menus, captions

Use the supplied logo files only. Never stretch, recolour, outline or retype them[6,10].

Photography

To commission: the real rooftop at dusk, groups mid-conversation, hands and cups

No verified venue photographs were available to this research. Several manual images appear illustrative. Never present stock or generated scenes as La Mirajh.

Voice

"Pull up a chair. Stay a while."
"Your table's ready when you are."

Warm, calm and conversational, never flashy[6]. Lines are illustrative direction, not approved copy.

Hosting

- A named table host each evening
- A set time to first order
- No pressure to leave
- A review request at the end

Turns "friendly & welcoming" into something guests can describe. S

RECOMMENDED DIRECTION S

The rooftop café made for conversation

Promise: "Your table on the rooftop, for as long as the conversation lasts."

AVOID CLAIMING, FOR NOW

- "Best" or "most-loved" rooftop
- "Luxury" or "premium" as a headline
- "Smoke-friendly" in marketing
- "Gaming lounge" or "panoramic views" until confirmed

CONCLUSION

The brand is designed; the experience is not yet visible. Make conversation the memory, prove the rooftop evening works, and let reviews carry "premium".
