Q HOW SHOULD THE MENU SUPPORT DIFFERENT OCCASIONS?

The menu has the right building blocks, but no hero item customers can name.

ROLE 1
Repeat-visit drinks

Job: a low-commitment reason to come back mid-week and to linger

Listed: coffee and beverages [1]; hot and cold cups in the packaging system [2]

Serves: friend groups and couples, every evening

Price: not verified · confirm from the current menu

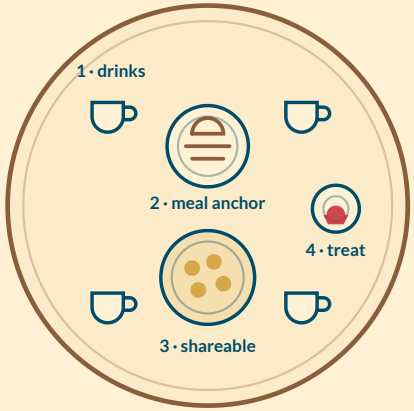

ROLE 2
Meal anchors

Job: turns a drinks visit into dinner and sets the size of the bill

Listed: burgers, pizza [1]; sandwiches and wraps [2]; Continental, American, Mexican [3]

Serves: couples, groups eating together, gatherings

Price: not verified · confirm from the current menu

Illustrative table, not a photograph

ROLE 3
Shareables

Job: lifts spend per table and keeps a group around one table

Listed: fries [2], momos [1], pizza to share

Serves: friend groups and hosted gatherings

Price: not verified · confirm from the current menu

ROLE 4
Treats & add-ons

Job: adds a small extra to each bill and closes the evening

Listed: desserts [1]; PS5 time as an experience add-on, if offered C

Serves: couples; groups finishing the night

Price: not verified · confirm from the current menu

WHAT'S MISSING — No accessible source names a signature item or shows item prices; the website menu could not be accessed [4] and Zomato exposed only its section names (food, beverages, bar) [5]. Cuisine tags conflict across platforms, and what the "bar" section contains needs confirming H .

IMPLICATION → Name three signatures, one drink, one shareable and one meal anchor, and publish prices for every role before the first campaign.

Q HOW CAN ORDERING COMBINATIONS LIFT SPEND?

Spend per guest is as powerful a lever as footfall: ₹600 instead of ₹500 cuts the daily guests needed for ₹4 lakh from ≈ 27 to ≈ 22.

Friends' table

4 GUESTS

Per guest [H] ₹350–600

Table total ₹1,400–2,400

4 drinks, 2 shareables, 1 dessert to share. Built for long evenings.

Couple's evening

2 GUESTS

Per guest [H] ₹500–750

Table total ₹1,000–1,500

2 drinks, 1 meal anchor (or 2), 1 dessert to share.

Hosted gathering

8 GUESTS (EXAMPLE)

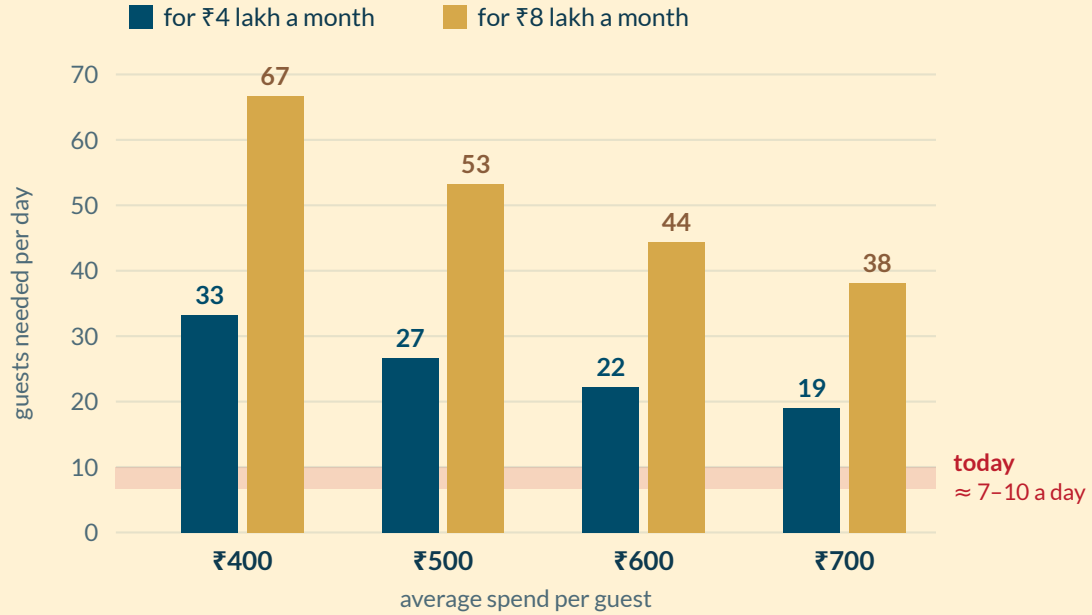

per guest

Per guest [H] ₹600–900

Table total ₹4,800–7,200

A set package per head with a reserved area. Needs costing.

GUESTS NEEDED PER DAY AT DIFFERENT SPEND LEVELS [S]

SUGGESTED COMBINATIONS, NOT APPROVED OFFERS. CHECK BEFORE USE:

- ✓ portion sizes for sharing
- ✓ current item prices
- ✓ availability at evening peak
- ✓ food cost and margin

Illustrative arithmetic: monthly revenue ÷ 30 days ÷ spend per guest. Revenue figures are client-reported and objectives [6]; ₹500 per guest is half the listed ₹1,000 for two [1,3], not measured spend. Today's band uses the same ₹500 assumption.

Reading the chart: at ₹500 per guest, ₹4 lakh needs ≈ 27 guests a day against ≈ 7–10 today. Lifting spend to ₹600 brings that to ≈ 22.

IMPLICATION → Raise spend per table with shareables and a dessert to finish, and grow covers through repeat group evenings. Neither lever alone reaches ₹4 lakh comfortably.

Q WHAT HELPS LA MIRAJH, AND WHAT HOLDS IT BACK?

A strong setting and weak proof, with a launch that coincides with the monsoon.

HELPFUL | HARMFUL

INSIDE THE CAFÉ · INTERNAL

Strengths EXISTING ADVANTAGES

Rooftop at a café price V
Rooftop seating at ≈ ₹1,000 for two, level with On De Roof and below The Living Room [3,7].
So: an accessible setting for repeat visits

Multi-zone and latest close in the set V
Rooftop, indoor and outdoor seating; open until 23:45.
So: groups and couples side by side, and an indoor fallback

A ready identity with an ownable idea C
Full brand manual and the tagline "Coffee · Community · Convo" [2].
So: no rebrand cost; build on "Convo"

Weaknesses INTERNAL LIMITS

Almost no public proof V
Ratings conflict (none, 1 or 16); website and Instagram unverified by this research.
So: loses at the comparison stage

No product identity V
Conflicting cuisine tags; no named signature; no visible prices.
So: no "you must order…" reason to return

Unverified facilities and a scale gap H
PS5, smoke zone and rain cover unconfirmed; ≈ 3× today's guests needed for ₹4 lakh.
So: risk of promising what can't be delivered

OUTSIDE THE CAFÉ · EXTERNAL

Opportunities EXTERNAL DEMAND

Proven rooftop demand nearby V
On De Roof alone carries 1,225 Zomato and 4,463 Justdial ratings [8].
So: the category doesn't need creating

Appetite for social play V
Board-game and gaming cafés active nearby: The Board Room (≈ 1,300 reviews), VR Game Cafe, Gaming Garage [9,10,11].
So: light play can be a group icebreaker

Room to win on hosting V
Some reviews of Double Roti and The Board Room mention waits at busy times [12,9].
So: a stated hosting standard can stand out

Threats EXTERNAL PRESSURES

Look-alike rooftops and discounting V
Ibiza Rooftop at ≈ ₹700 with 20% and 10% offers [13].
So: "rooftop" drifts toward a price war

Weather at launch H
The 1 Nov start falls in Chennai's north-east monsoon (Oct–Dec); summer heat follows.
So: rooftop demand may swing week to week

Regulatory and reputational risk S
"Smoke-friendly" is in the manual; tobacco promotion is restricted in India (COTPA, 2003).
So: take legal advice; keep it out of marketing

V Observed in public listings (21 Oct 2026) C Client-stated S Strategist interpretation H Hypothesis to validate

COTPA = Cigarettes and Other Tobacco Products Act; seek qualified legal advice

Q WHAT SHOULD HAPPEN FIRST?

Close the proof gap first, build the weekly ritual second, and scale only what the numbers support.

Now BEFORE 1 NOVEMBER

1 Proof audit: rain cover, PS5, booking route, prices
W3 × T2, T3

Impact ●●● Feasibility ●●●

Check: everything promoted is true on a wet Friday

2 Legal advice on smoking language; drop it from marketing
T3

WEEKLY SCORECARD

- Guests per day
- Average spend per guest (₹)
- Share of tables with 3+ guests
- New reviews
- PS5 tables
- Rooftop vs indoor on rainy nights

CONCLUSION

Close the proof gap first, then build the weekly ritual. Scale only what the scorecard shows working.
