Q HOW WAS EACH BRAND PLACED, AND HOW MUCH WEIGHT CAN EACH PLACEMENT BEAR?

Placements rest on public listing evidence. Rivals with large review bases are placed with more confidence than new venues.

WHAT CHANGED SINCE THE OCTOBER REPORT

- Coordinates re-checked against the same evidence: meanings unchanged, values kept.
- La Mirajh today is shown as a zone: its signals conflict.
- Confidence ratings added for every placement.

LIMITATIONS

Listings were read from search-indexed content; the website, Instagram and Google profile were not accessible [17,18,19]. No customer survey exists. Treat positions as hypotheses to test, not facts.

IMPLICATION → Use the graph to decide direction, not to claim leadership. La Mirajh's own position is the least certain point on the map.

Q WHAT DOES THE MAP TELL US?

Memorable settings tend to be loud and calm tables tend to be ordinary. La Mirajh can aim to combine setting with calm.

1 Where competition clusters

- Food and coffee venues sit left: the dish is the reason.
- Rooftops cluster mid-right and lean lively: dinners, celebrations, sport.
- Activity venues sit top-right: the game is the reason.

2 The trade-off customers face

- Across this set, a more memorable setting tends to come with more noise.
- A calm table usually means an ordinary room.
- Few options combine setting with calm, but Ibiza shows the space is contested, not empty.

3 The proposed direction

- Move down and right: keep the rooftop as the reason, lower the noise.
- Use PS5 as light play, so it doesn't pull the brand up into "activity venue".
- Leadership is not claimed; the position has to be earned.

IMPLICATION → Emphasise setting + calm + hosting. Don't chase the loud corner where The Board Room, VR Game Cafe and The Living Room already have clear reasons to visit.

Q WHAT MUST LA MIRAJH PROVE TO EARN THE TARGET POSITION?

The target is earned through product, setting and service, each with a signal that shows it is working.
